Broader Interest Urged By Lions Club Governor

Lions clubs were urged to extend their influence beyond the community into national and international spheres by Dr. P. B. Rynard, Orillia, district governor, who was guest speaker at the meeting of the Newmarket Lions club Monday night. The meeting was held in the basement of St. Paul's parish hall.

Dr. Rynard sketched the history of Lions clubs in the United States and Canada, pointing out that Lions clubs held top position in numbers over other service clubs.

He urged his listeners to give thought to some of the problems facing the world today and numbered among them, education problems, labor-management disputes, and the friction between Russia and the western democracies.

Dr Rynard protested a move towards raising university entrance requirements to scholarship level. Using estimated figures for Toronto and the metropolitan area, he said that "of the medical profession, only five percent would be practising now if scholarship level had been the requirement of their entrance into medical school. Searching back through the last 25 years, I find that only one major scientist would have been able to attend university if he required scholarship academic standing in order to enter university.

"Are we destroying the chances for university trained students in large numbers by too high entrance requirements?" he asked. He spoke of a scholarship winner of his acquaintance who was kept so busy during her school year maintaining her high level of school work that she had no time to attend church. "How th of vision which is necessary can you give students the bread if you keep them so busy at their books they have no time for other pursuits?" he asked. "It is high time the provincial government stepped in and acted where the universities were concerned. If present standards eliminate so many of our potential university graduates, what will happen in the future?"

Dr. Rynard referred to migration of trained people from Canada to the United States. "I was quoted a figure of 25,000 young people who crossed the border each year," he said. "Of that figure, it was estimated that 40 percent of them were university graduates. When you figure the cost of educating these young people, that migration represents an export of easily $25,000,000 worth of talent."

He urged immigration to Canada as the answer. "If we had a population of 40,000,000, we could keep more of these young people home," Dr. Rynard continued. "The need for a larger population is particularly evident in western Canada. There is still room for a half million more farmers in the Peace River district.

Forty million people in Canada would quarter the per capita debt, he claimed. "At the present time, 35 percent of every dollar in Canada comes from the export trade. Yet, consider these figures: Canada is 32nd in size of population in the world; fifth producing nation in the world; and second most sparsely populated country.

"Canada is dependent on the export market and we have a very short time in which to get our share of export trade. Yet, how can we if labor and management are constantly fighting. There is no excuse for that friction.

SEEK SPARE COUPONS FOR MEAT FOR U.K.

The Newmarket Home and School Association is cooperating with the dominion government in a plan to provide extra meat supplies for Britain. Under this plan, any unexpired meat coupons that are turned in to the ration board in Aurora will be used to increase the exports of meat to Britain.

Housewives are asked to send any spare coupons in a sealed envelope to the different schools where they will be collected and sent to the proper source. Collections will be made at the end of each month and before the Christmas holidays, as several meat coupons expire at the end of December. The co-operation of the citizens of Newmarket in this worthy cause is sought.

Public School Candidates Address Home-School Assn.

Candidates for the 1947 school board spoke briefly at the Newmarket Home and School Association meeting last night. L. H. Bovair, chairman of the school board for 1946, said that it is the duty of each citizen to get out and vote, regardless of the identity of the candidate of his choice.

"The board consists of six members, three elected each year," Mr. Bovair said. "There are three committees, each with three members. The duties of the school board are the administration of the three public schools. It is unfortunate that we have three small schools rather than one big one. I look forward to the day when we shall have one big school.

"This year, the board appointed music and art directors. The opportunity classes are soon to be started, with the object of aiding students to keep up to the average. We have granted prizes amounting to $10 to the entrance classes of each school. In the near future it is our intention to start public speaking classes in the schools."

Fred Hall said that children are one of his main interests. "I have been active on the recreation council, in the Lions club park summer program and in other organizations, mainly because I am fond of children," he said.

"I have served for 17 years as a school teacher. I am a ratepayer, a property owner and a parent. As a school teacher I have been to many school board meetings here and in other communities. I believe in well thought out progress. Changes are not made in a day. In the schools today I see many things to be commended and many others that can be improved."

Mrs. V. A. Seldon has "worked with school boards, Home and School Associations and similar bodies for a long time.

"I am a fully qualified teacher as well and have taught for many years. I have loved and worked with children all my life. I have both the time and the energy to give to the job."

She said that poor lighting in the schools was one of the things that should be investigated.

Dr. G. E. Case and J. B. Bastedo, the other two candidates, were not present to speak.

Once Ran Newmarket Dairy, Tells Of Work In The West

"We sell milk for 13 cents a quart in Brandon, Man., but farmers do not get as much for producing it as they do here," said Gordon Williamson when interviewed recently by The Era and Express. "We pay the farmers $2.95 for 3.5 milk. Brandon now has the cheapest pasteurized milk of any city in Canada. Before the war it sold for ten cents a quart. I have no statistics at hand but I believe that the operating costs of a dairy there are considerably higher than those here because of the greater distances that have to be travelled.

"All of our milk is pasteurized although there is no law requiring it, and the bacterial count of all our milk must be below 50,000 before we will sell it. During the war we supplied the surrounding army camps with milk, and their specifications were very stiff. Fortunately we are in a T.B.-free area, and we do not accept milk from any abortive cows, so that there is no danger of any of our customers coming down with undulant fever because of the milk."

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson came to Toronto to show two horses at the Royal Winter Fair. They were accompanied by Mr. Williamson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williamson, who were both born in Newmarket. Having come as far as Toronto, the family went to Grandmere, Que., to visit Mrs. Gordon Williamson's brother, and then came to Newmarket in order that Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williamson might renew old acquaintances here.

Mr. Williamson, Sr., attended Alexander Muir public school and farmed here on the College

'47 Not Economy Year Mayor-Elect Warns

Highlights of nomination speeches Friday night in the Newmarket town hall:

TOWN COUNCIL

Mayor Joseph Vale: In the past, the council has worked remarkably well. It is my hope to continue the spirit of co-operation. In the past, no one has sought to take political advantage. When discussing the grant to the recreation council, there were considerable differences, but there was no animosity.

The town has been fortunate that it has had citizens willing to sacrifice time and energy in municipal business. Newmarket is expanding and the amount of detail work which must be shouldered by members of council is becoming overwhelming. It is my hope that before the year is out, the town will employ a full-time graduate engineer to handle such work.

The parking situation on Main St. is intolerable. It is my opinion that among the worst offenders are Main St. businessmen. We hope to remedy this situation through the use of Widdifield Park.

Another immediate concern is the matter of suitable recognition for veterans. My preference is a memorial hall. I do not favor putting all municipal services under one roof as has been suggested. To do so seems to me an attempt to use the sentiment attached to the provision of a memorial hall to pay for municipal services which should be paid for from taxes.

This council cannot come before the electors on a program of economy. A town cannot grow without assuming new expenses. On the question of revenue, I hope and trust that the 1947 council will consider bringing back into force the poll tax. Such a tax would apply to citizens who enjoy the advantages of municipal services but do not contribute towards them as do property holders and tenants. I would like to see some of the revenue from the poll tax set aside for recreation and sports activities.

Reeve Arthur D. Evans: I am delighted to have the opportunity to serve again. There is often reference to young men stepping into council. I would like to point out that Mayor Vale and Deputy-Reeve Spillette have served for some years on council and that experience is serving them in good stead now.

We read of incinerators, widening Main St., sewage disposal, the list is endless. We can't do it all at once. We have to keep an eye on the tax rate. There are some things that are best left over because of the awful price that must be paid for materials.

Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette: As a merchant, I am interested in the parking problem. There have been many plans to relieve the congestion but when tried have proven unsatisfactory. If we are going to have a parking restriction, we must first have an alternative parking space. In my opinion, Widdifield park is the answer.

I would like to see a change in the assessment. We have many complaints, some assessments too high, others too low. I would like to see an equalization of assessment and have done with much of the confusion that now exists. I would suggest an independent committee be set up to overhaul all assessments with a view of putting all property on an equal footing.

Mrs. Caroline Edwards: After one year in council I found it a strenuous job. It wasn't the regular meetings so much as the special meetings. There is a place for women on municipal bodies. Their interests tend towards such matters as health, recreation, education and town planning.

Aubrey G. Scythes: Since my return from the navy, I have been much interested in community welfare. My intention, if elected, is to carry on the same fine traditions of my predecessors. I am glad to see so many of the old council running. If there was a complete change-over, there would be confusion. However, I think there is room for one or two new members on the council.

H. J. Luck: I am in complete accord with Mr. Spillette on equalizing assessment. There is no need to be extravagant. The council is to blame, possibly the press, for not making people more acquainted with public business. I have heard more of council business tonight than I have read in the newspaper.

Parking has been a bug-bear for years. A few years ago, there was an opportunity to purchase property so that a second Main St., parallel to the first, might have been developed west of the existing Main St. It is still possible to do that.

I don't like the thought of a poll tax. Are we going to impose a tax on all those boys who offered their lives in the war? How are you going to segregate those on which the tax should be levied?

George M. Byers: It has been a pleasure to work with such an intelligent council as the 1946 one. It is an extreme pleasure to welcome Mr. Vale as mayor. The town has suffered a great loss first in the withdrawal of Fred A. Lundy last year and Dr. L. W. Dales this year.

Thomas Birrell: absent.

R. C. Morrison: The people here tonight are those who take part in public affairs. They are members of various committees. Some have served on the recreation council which has taken over the job, under the sponsorship of the Newmarket town council, of administering recreation. I would like to see the formation of other committees to work in the same way. We are strong in Newmarket except in our lack of a chamber of commerce or a board of trade. Such a body could make recommendations regarding the parking, street lighting, old boys' reunion, etc. Such an organization could lift a heavy burden from the shoulders of the town council.

We should be more considerate of the people outside our limits. There should be a strong market each week and a Christmas parade.

Frank Bowser: In regards to parking, the extra width on Main St. speaks for itself. We are arranging for earth to fill Widdifield Park so that it can be used for parking space. I am sorry that the opportunity to provide a second Main St., referred to by Mr. Luck, wasn't grasped.

I offer my apologies for the sidewalks. We can't get cement to complete some jobs which were started or to improve other walks. I think the council did good work last year. New factories are coming in and factories are the life of the town.

William E. Andrews: Newmarket is on the verge of great industrial expansion. I am glad some of the old councillors are running again. I am pleased to offer my services to the municipality.

Mrs. Gladys Mitchell: I have raised my five children and now I feel I have the time to give to the affairs of my town. I feel that I can offer good service on the municipal council.

J. A. Perks: It is not my intention to qualify. The town is growing and I think it won't be too long before we have another man on the police force. I believe at present that we have the best police force we have ever had. I wish for the present to bow out.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD

L. H. Bovair: It is impossible for me to accept the nomination to the town council for I have not the time. However, I have the time for the public school board. I have served the last four years and it has been a profit and pleasure for me. I have been more interested in the educational welfare of Newmarket than its other aspects.

Mrs. Val Seldon: It is hard to make promises in the face of the accomplishments that other speakers can tell of. However, if elected, I will do my best.

Fred L. Hall: I have been keenly interested in the activities of children and as a school teacher, didn't limit my interest to school hours alone. I have had experience in various schools and am familiar with the activities of the public school board.

J. B. Bastedo: I have yet to make up my mind whether to qualify but if I do, it will be to offer to the town 20 years of educational experience. I see before us a great expansion in the schools. At least one new school will be required. The public school board is to be commended for its administration of schools. I would seek to maintain the same high standards.

Hydro Commission

Fred S. Thompson, acclaimed to the Newmarket hydro commission, was absent when called to speak.

VOTE FOR THE POLICY, NOT THE CANDIDATE

On Monday, Dec. 7, Newmarket voters will choose six of nine candidates for positions as councillors on the Newmarket town council. The size of the slate is encouraging. It means that voters will have a wider choice than in the past. That is important. The candidates who are elected will be administering a $100,000 business.

We all have some comprehension of the problems facing the 1947 council. We know, for example, that the industrial expansion of Newmarket has introduced problems new to the town. We recognize the need for heavy expenditures on roads and sidewalks. From the experience of the past year, we expect problems which have not yet been recognized. At the polls, the citizens of Newmarket will choose those candidates who in their opinion can best meet those developments.

Mayor-elect Joseph Vale has said that the 1947 council candidates cannot approach the public on an economy platform. Mayor Vale said that the town cannot expand without spending. Who among the candidates will spend to produce the best results? That is the choice to be made by the voters.

At the nomination meeting Friday night, those who were present heard some expression of the policies of the candidates. They heard reference, for example, to the possibility of providing a second Main St. to relieve the present congestion and to enlarge the shopping area. Is this plan sensible? Will those who spoke on it act to provide it if elected? Here again, the voters must choose.

The coming election is important. Newmarket has embarked upon industrial expansion. It is gradually emerging from the comparative obscurity of a country town to prominence as an industrial centre. Nine candidates have offered their services towards shaping future growth. We urge the voters to choose carefully. We urge the voters to take every opportunity to determine the policies of the candidates, and to decide if they are best for the town. We urge the candidates to make every effort to place before the public their platforms.

What sort of future Newmarket is to have depends on the citizens. We urge them to vote not for the candidate, but for what that candidate will accomplish if elected.

THE PUBLIC WANTS TO KNOW HOW YOU STAND

It is customary for candidates to public office to assure the voters that if elected, they will serve "faithfully" and "work hard" in the "best interests" of the municipality. That is all very well, but it seems to us that faithful service in the best interests of the community is only to be expected of men in public office.

After all, the voters are not willfully electing a man to public office simply to sit at the head table at a public function. Nor can the voters imagine an office-holder acting in anything but the best interests of his community, or at least, the best interests of the community as he conceives them. If a promise to work faithfully in the best interests of the community is all that a candidate can offer, his contribution is no more than is expected of him as a matter of course.

What the public wants to know is whether or not a candidate has any ideas about improving the community. The public wants to know how the candidate stands on important local questions. In other words, the public wants a definite statement of policy so that they can determine whether or not such a candidate would actually be working in the best interests of his community. For it is the public which is the final judge of the best interests of the community, not the candidate.

The chronic complaint these days is that the public doesn't take much interest in public affairs. We have echoed the complaint from these columns with what, we fear, must be monotonous regularity. It is quite true that interest in public affairs has waned to the point of indifference, but we wonder how much of this is the result of a general secrecy on the part of candidates in regard to their beliefs and policies. Candidates are not very interesting when all they have to offer are promises to work faithfully in the best interests of the community.

All candidates have in the news columns of The Era and Express an effective medium through which to address their platforms and policies to the public. We will print election platforms if the candidates will oblige us by letting us know either through letters or by interview just what they are. But until candidates get away from this habit of offering only the minimum of what is expected of them, we doubt if there will be much public interest in public affairs.

WILL YOU DO YOUR DUTY?

When the nominations closed Friday night, there were 61 persons in the Newmarket town hall including candidates and officials. That represents an increase of 12 over last year. There are an estimated 2,500 voters in Newmarket. The size of the vote on election day will demonstrate the measure in which the citizens of Newmarket will accept their responsibilities. So far, there has been little indication that they are even aware of them.

AN EXAMPLE OF SELF RELIANCE

Elsewhere in this issue is the story of how three Newmarket residents are beating the housing shortage by building their own homes. Two of them, on their own testimony, had no experience in carpentry or masonry until driven by necessity to mix cement and lay floors.

If nothing else, the example of these Newmarket residents is proof of what can be done in these days of shortages. Their example is made all the more pertinent by the complaint so often heard of "why doesn't the government do something?" Through its provision of social security, its far-reaching powers which affect in one way or another the life of a citizen from cradle to grave, the government has been a party to the sapping of the self-reliance which was so much a part of the Canadian heritage.

In the example of these men, there is proof that if necessary, Canadians can still "make do" with nothing but their determination to support them. The example is worth remembering and copying when a problem develops instead of crying "why doesn't someone else do something about this."

ANSWER FOR MOUNT ALBERT?

Mount Albert citizens have instructed their village trustees to enquire into the possibilities of providing a suitable water system for the village, not only for its convenience but for the fire protection. Water from wells and private pumps would not be adequate to fight a fire fanned by a stiff breeze. It is no exaggeration of the imagination to picture parts of Mount Albert in smoking ruins from just such a situation.

Mount Albert's problem makes pertinent the suggestion of Dr. L. W. Dales when at a recent council meeting, he wondered why an aqueduct could not be built from Lake Simcoe as far south as Richmond Hill. As we remember it, Dr. Dales' words were to the effect that the cost of such a project, large as it would be, could scarcely be much more than the total cost of drilling wells for farms and municipalities.

If Dr. Dales' proposal was adopted, it might be the answer to the problems of Mount Albert.

In Passing

No one will disagree with Reeve Arthur D. Evans when he says that the "endless list" of municipal services and improvements cannot all be accomplished at once. The disagreement arises over what is the most pressing of such services; what should be provided first.

The first snow-storm of the year of any importance brings with it a reminder that the winter season is a dangerous season in which to drive. The wise motorist will check his car for its mechanical perfection and keep a sharp watch for icy roads and treacherous drifts.

We are not so sure that we have much of a quarrel with John L. Lewis, boss of the turbulent coal miners. Every time the miners walk out, there is additional incentive to provide more efficient methods of heating. If John L. keeps calling the men out of the mines, we figure that we'll be able to heat the house with some newfangled heating unit at a fraction of the cost of present methods.

What Others Think

DOES U.S.A. WANT FREER TRADE?

(The Financial Post)

American observers have been complaining that Canada, the United Kingdom and others seem to question the United States conversion to freer world trade. They are disappointed in the lack of enthusiasm which greeted their offers before the trade conference in London and at our reluctance to jettison Empire Preferences for a new and wider deal. Friendly critics of the American plan for getting world trade moving are said to refuse "to focus their minds on the present but to insist on talking to the U.S. as though we (the U.S.) still had the mentality of 1930."

Canada, with a much greater stake in world trade than the United States or almost any other country, will certainly hope that the American tariff "mentality of 1930" has disappeared. But until there has been some very tangible evidence of this change we can hardly be blamed for being cautious.

On more than one occasion in the last half century our whole economy has been disrupted by sudden and staggering jumps in the U.S. tariff. The McKinley, Fordney-McCumber and Hawley-Smoot tariffs are all remembered in this country as measures which brought ruin to a formerly highly prosperous trade.

With the party responsible for those levies now in control of both the U.S. Congress and Senate, Canadians will keep their fingers crossed until they are convinced this American conversion is going to stick. They will want to be very sure that the United States is just as willing to import as it is export, because successful trade is a two-way business.

Through painful necessity Canada has developed alternative outlets to the great natural market south of our border. We have developed special exports for Britain and the rest of the Empire and this policy has saved many of our industries when Washington slammed the doors.

We should prefer to do full business with both customers. In many lines we have both capacity and production to do such business. Before surrendering our advantages in one quarter, however, we want to make sure that the other door is going to be permanently opened.

Fifty percent tariff cuts, the limit under the special power granted the American president, won't do much to stimulate trade where the duty is already fantastically prohibitive. And cuts without a complete change of heart in U.S. tariff administration will be meaningless. There are other and more effective ways to check the flow of goods.

Ordinary red tape works pretty well in keeping out imports and there are such things as special cost appraisals, quarantines and inspections. The invisible as well as visible prohibitive tariffs must go if we are all sincere in the widening of world trade.

Mother's Little Helper

Gary always has a small parcel to carry on these expeditions. The parcel keeps his hands occupied; besides, he feels rather important marching along with it. On this recent occasion, however, there just wasn't anything suitable for Gary to carry. Mother's arms were loaded with breakable, heavy articles this time.

A stop at the drugstore was the last errand of the day. On the way home people smiled more than usual when Gary and his mother passed them. Nevertheless, mother was oblivious to the reason for this extra attention showered upon her manly little off-spring. They had walked over three blocks before Gary's little show was abruptly halted by a man on the street who couldn't suppress his laughter.

It was then that mother glanced in Gary's direction. Imagine her surprise! Gary was playing fireman with a hot water bottle and its hose attachment. It was a long trip back to the drugstore, but back went Gary and his mother to return the young fireman's newly acquired equipment—sale price and all.

In the future, Gary will just have to be provided with an approved parcel to carry. This imaginative little boy might delight in wrapping one of his own toys and making the rounds with it.

'Common Round' Report Brings Note Of Thanks

A letter of thanks and congratulations to Isabel Inglis Colville, author of the Common Round which appears weekly in The Newmarket Era and Express, has been received from the Society for Crippled Civilians, Toronto. On Oct. 14, the Bogarttown branch of the Women's Institute chartered a bus and visited Toronto. While there, the ladies inspected the work of reclaiming and renovating household articles done by the Crippled Civilians. Mrs. Colville wrote of the visit in the Common Round, and the article brought a letter of appreciation from the society.

HERE AND THERE WITH EDUCATION

Talking to teachers at various times has given me something to think about, which is, in the last analysis, what teachers are for. And I also saw the work books for the first grades, which both interested and amused me; interested because they were so entirely different from our small, uninteresting first books with "Pat a fat cat", etc., and amused me with the ingenious ways of introducing and impressing new words on the small seekers after knowledge.

Then too, much larger words were introduced than assisted in jumbling our small brains. Lastly, color was added—by the children. This, to one who from her earliest recollections was color mad, completed a picture of fun instead of work.

"We spoon-feed our beginners," said one teacher, laughingly, and when I asked if this were all to the good, she replied that "they don't have to work as we did for what they get—the results remain to be seen".

Each child has a work book which has to be examined daily. Of course the children won't have the amount of scribblers we had. I remember I spent every penny I could amass on scribblers—always providing they had pretty covers.

Then there is the music in the schools—I've been hearing a great deal about that lately—and in my opinion there cannot be too much of it for music is a great educator. Watch the faces of children as they sing. They change—and all for the better—for they are lifted out of the commonplace into a new world—a world of harmony.

We saw a picture the other night at the P.O. Union church in which music got hold of boys who resisted all other efforts to enlist them in the Christian army. It opened a way for Christ to come in. I often think that like John the Baptist, it can be a forerunner.

The same evening that we saw the picture, the school children, for whom these lectures are primarily shown but are then enjoyed by children and adults alike, sang. 'Led by Mr. Rowan and accompanied at the piano by Miss Hope, they sang little gospel songs—some with motions, and to one they had added motions of their own. They were asked to sing and did they hang back? Oh no, they wanted to sing, they loved it.

At the district annual we saw the Newmarket school pupils show how children can learn the value of time and rhythm and show it on instruments. At the W.I. fair in Newmarket, groups of young folk sang so charmingly that the memory lingers pleasantly.

The benefit is not alone for the children—ask any singing teacher. We know, my husband and I, for we tried it here before there was music in the schools and if you were to ask who got the most out of it, the children or us, I'd vote for us. At the end of five years our living-room carpet was a wreck and our furniture had to be recovered for 37 children are 37 children, but it was worth it!

I've heard on rare occasions that all this music, domestic science, manual training and oratory was prejudicial to the learning of the three r's, but I think if we came right down to cases, we would find that they are a stimulant. When I was a child we had perhaps ten minutes' singing during school hours. I looked forward to those few minutes all day. The old land was ahead of us. My husband says that in Scotland they learned part singing with their A.B.C.'s.

The children who sing and speak as children will have overcome the terrible shyness that affects some adults when called to do some little bit of reading or talking later in life. Domestic science and manual training can bring out talents as well as provide foundation stones for later life. Education in music and public speaking follow a child all through life and serve as an introduction in many cases where entrance into good company might be slow. That they can also serve as an introduction into just the opposite kind is a sad thing, but it's up to us to set, keep and raise that standard so high that it cannot be debased.

For many months the canny Scottish wooer had courted without committing himself. Then he felt the time had come to speak. Producing a well-thumbed notebook, he said: "Maggie, I've been weighing up your good points and I've counted up to ten. When I get to the dozen I'll ha'e something to say."

"Well, I wish ye luck, Jock," was the girl's cool response. "I've been reckoning up your bad points and I've reached 19. When I gets to 20 I'm marrying Ferguson, the plumber."

"You're starting just the way I did, Billy!"

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

MEMBERS OF SECT CHARGE ASSAULT

"You can use as much force as necessary to eject an undesired person from your own property," said Magistrate W. E. McIlveen as he remanded James and John Brydon in magistrate's court last week. James was charged with assaulting Nicholas Poohack, while brother John was charged with assaulting Poohack and Elmer Parsons, both ministers of the Jehovah Witnesses sect.

Poohack, whose home is in Toronto, testified that on Sunday, Sept. 15, he and his friends had been calling at the homes along the Schomberg road, telling of a Bible meeting to be held at the town hall that evening. One of the group, Elmer Parsons, called at the home of John Brydon, who began to use force to eject Parsons from the premises, he said. When he went to Parsons' aid, he said, Jim Brydon went after him. Poohack said that he began to run but when he saw that Jim Brydon was overtaking him he stopped and confronted him. Brydon was startled, he said, and did not do anything, so Poohack motioned to his friends in the car, and they drove between the pair. Just as they were doing so, Brydon threw a stone at him, Poohack said, but the stone did not hit him.

Gus Hiller, Toronto, testified that he had gone in to call on families in the area along with Parsons and Poohack. He said that Bill Wyatt had gone in to see James Brydon and that Brydon had started to push Wyatt. Then he turned on Poohack and started to chase him, according to Hiller. When the others went to pick Poohack up in the car, Brydon threw a stone at him.

Elmer Parsons corroborated the evidence of the previous witnesses.

James Brydon testified that he had never seen Poohack before, but admitted that he had "ushered one of the group" off his property. He said that the one who had called on him was not among the group who had testified. "The one I saw told my wife to shut up and called me ignorant," he said. "I assisted him off my property. I never went onto the public thoroughfare, nor did I ever pick up a stone," he said.

Testifying against John Brydon, Poohack said that he had seen John shoving Parsons and trying to trip him. He said that when he went to Parsons' assistance, "he called me a foreigner and came after me. He struck me once on the shoulder, so I turned around and struck him on the chest. He kept wielding his fists and I kept retreating. He called me a yellow coward."

Hiller and Wyatt corroborated Poohack's evidence. Elmer Parsons testified that when he got into the car, John Brydon pulled him out and struck him. Hiller corroborated this story. "Afterwards John threw a stone through the car window and it struck Elmer on the leg," he said.

John Brydon testified that he had never gone onto the road or near the car. Gertrude Brydon, his mother, corroborated his story.

S. J. Kelner, prosecuting, said that the inescapable conclusion was that an assault did take place, and that the question of whose property they were on at the time had nothing to do with the question.

Magistrate McIlveen said that it was really a question of whose word he was going to believe, and said that the story as told by the Brydons sounded most plausible. He remanded the pair for one week pending judgment.

Robert Sherwood was remanded one week for a mental examination when he was charged with threatening to shoot several officials of Georgina township. He was also charged with unlawfully wounding two horses, the property of Fred Rye.

Joseph Walsh was convicted of disorderly conduct in Holland Landing, after he had pleaded guilty to vagrancy. Chief Constable Ronald Watt testified that there was shooting going on in the main street of Holland Landing on July 19. He said that he had found the accused in bed with a loaded rifle beside him, that the man had been under the influence of liquor, and that he had admitted firing two shots "into the open."

"Accused said he had lost $300 during the evening which he thought one of his companions had stolen," Chief Watt said.

"He said that when he found the money missing he went and got the gun, and fired the shots in an attempt to scare the thief out into the open."

"This is not a case of vagrancy within the definition of the term. Actually it is more a case of disturbing the peace," Magistrate McIlveen said. "However, it is a dangerous proposition for any man to go around firing guns in the main street. The $300 that the man lost was enough of a penalty, but the gun will be confiscated."

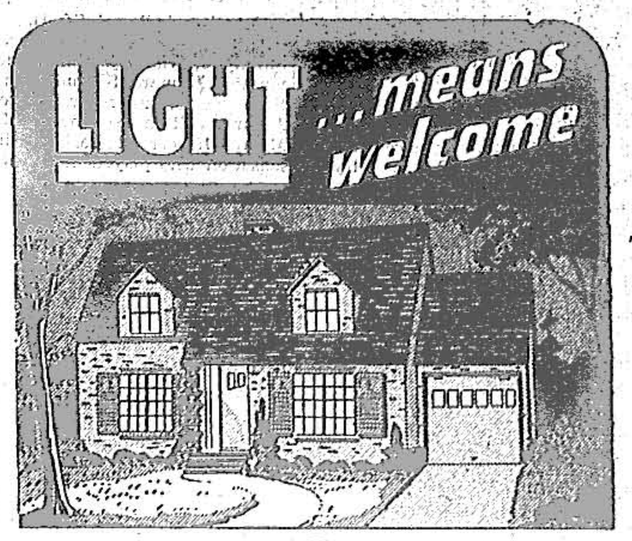

A. E. Hawkins, convicted last week of depositing waste material from the Collis Leather plant on the Aurora-Schomberg road, was fined $5 and costs or five days.

Hoffman machinery will be the name the Newmarket merchants team of last season will be known as this year. Through the efforts of Bob Maguire of the Hoffman firm, a generous grant has been made to Johnny Campbell and his associates and the team colors will be red, white and blue. It is a fine gesture on the part of a new firm and greatly appreciated by the fans and players.

Joe Peat and Roy Collings, according to Johnny Campbell, will both be definite starters with the Hoffman crew. Of course, both boys last year with Zephyr Blues, will have another pal with them in the person of Clinger Groves and the trio predicate their actions upon an O.H.A. entry via the mercantile set-up.

Joe Megani, a defenceman with the Bradford O.R.H.A. entry, is another addition to the team while Mickey Smith right now looks to have an edge in the netminding department. The situation between the club and the Newmarket Veterans, which will definitely be entered in the intermediate B series, is on the verge of the Hatfield-McCoy stage right now but that shouldn't hurt from the gate angle and both clubs will be sure of plenty of support. Haven't heard from Messrs. Ward, McDonald and May in some days and that must mean the board of strategy has an atomic blast. They're ready to unleash anytime now.

Bob Snowball and Ike Harper, Stouffville, drifted into Aurora quietly on Sunday to interview maestro, Leonard Simmons on a little matter of securing from Aurora releases for Double Moore, 15-year-old goal tending sensation who played in the nets for Stouffville last winter; Johnny Atkinson, burly 16-year-old defenceman of last winter's Aurora midgets; and 18-year-old Mac Clement, stalwart of the Richmond Hill junior B blueline. All three reside in the Hill and a little matter of several miles by road makes them eligible to play junior C hockey for Aurora if the Hill doesn't have a team.

The plea was that the Red Wings with these three had a championship club and that Stouffville only wanted them for one year, after which, if there was no Hill team, they would play for Aurora. The innuendo was that if these three didn't play for Stouffville, they would fail to play for Aurora with Clement going to Chapmans or Scarboro Rangers and the other two playing junior C with a yet unformed Hill club.

Mr. Simmons said no! Aurora will stand on its constitutional and legal rights, welcoming the Hill boys with open arms if they want to play with Aurora. If they didn't, they wouldn't provide opposition for a club in the same group, namely Stouffville, which is already strong, and if the Hill entered a team, it would be welcomed by Aurora and presumably the other clubs which have enjoyed friendly rivalry with the Hill. There's the situation. Snowball and Harper will likely seek relief from the O.H.A. executive and the $64 question for the week is, what will the Hill do? No one we contacted seemed to be sure about it all.

Newmarket Redmen juniors took to the ice at Barrie on Sunday with some 30 candidates out for a trial. Joe Peat is scheduled to coach the team this winter along with Fred Hall, who will more specifically guide the midgets. Jimmy Walker and his associates will depend largely on homebrew kids, but may of course be aided by Harry Caradonna and Fink Tunstead, both local boys and candidates for the Hoffman team who played with Barrie Colts last winter.

Bill Johnston, starry young forward of the Vets who was thought to be of junior age, is too old, t'is learned, by a couple of months. The Redmen, however, will not lack for playing strength and one or two dark horses will probably be trotted out before the season starts.

Bradford Lions were also out at Barrie arena for practice and with the Hoffman team working too, it was a regular north York day in the Simcoe county ice plant. Fred Collings is again looking after the Bradford team and he has his juvenile group champions practically intact. With no junior team to the north in the same category, he'll probably be able to add some of the good juvenile players from Alliston, Stroud and other rural centres.

Oak Ridges, once the kingpin of bush league hockey in the district by all accounts, will return to the hockey wars this winter. It has an intermediate club ready for action in the Aurora mercantile or O.R.H.A. series, probably the former, and already has two sets of sweaters and sticks. It will likely have a bantam team in the Aurora Lions series.

A bulldozer has been at work readying an open air rink by the school and with Fred Judge, Archie Jenkings, Jack Topper and the community recreation council behind the plan, they'll have plenty of fun and games.

Pefferlaw makes its appearance in O.M.H.A. hockey this winter with a midget and bantam team and we understand Sutton, Cannington, Oakwood and Beaverton will be similarly represented.

Bob Moody comes back for more with a Schomberg entry in the intermediate O.R.H.A. series, and also a juvenile team in the same league. The new rink seems to be at a standstill and a lot of the folks out that way are wondering now about the financial prospects for an arena with the Nobleton rink a certainty. The rink at Schomberg is a community "must", even though it might not pay very much, and we hope the committee will continue its good work.

Maple will make its debut in intermediate and probably juvenile O.R.H.A. this winter, using the open-air box which was used for bowls in the summer. Charlie Bowness, the rotund coach of Aurora-Newmarket-Richmond Hill junior teams since the mid 30's, will not come north this season for his hockey. "The Weston Farmer" has been delegated to take charge of hockey at Woodbridge and an intermediate O.R.H.A. team, plus several minor teams in either the O.M.H.A. or T.H.L. series are certainties. Like Maple, Woodbridge as much as possible will use the open-air rink but of course can commute to either Nobleton or Bolton.

Richmond Hill will be grouped in the O.M.H.A. midget group which should go over big this season coupled as it is in most cases with the junior O.H.A. team. What a difference a year makes! These youngsters soon grow up and the Aurora team which won the O.M.H.A. B crown last winter finds itself with only Walt Tunney and Gerry Simmons eligible to play. The bantam series, however, is able to give Babcock and Holloway a team that will be heard from, although a bit on the small side.

John Stuart told us at the Aurora high school commencement on Friday that his earnings so far this year from his nags had totalled something over $28,000. This figure, in all probability, will place the former Aurora boy in second or third place among Canadian racing owners.

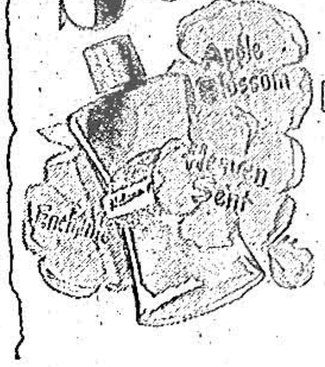

Col. R. S. McLaughlin and his Parkwood Stables, by virtue of the triumphs of Kingarvie, will take first place easily. John expects good things from his horses now at Bowie and they'll play the American tracks most of the winter. Buttergut, his King's Plate entry, is not likely to go very far, he admits. He was once offered $11,000 for this one but hung on against his better judgement, the king's guineas being a healthy lure.

Bonnie Liz, his three-year-old filly, is being carefully wintered and he looks forward to some fine races next season from this filly who likes the short distances. He has several purchases in mind and come next spring, there'll be changes in the Stuart barns. We appreciated his thoughtfulness in presenting us with two handsomely mounted race pictures, complete with action and presentation, one of Rice Cake, the other of Black Ned. They go very nicely in the Hulsean collection of sports photos and prints which seems to keep mounting all the time.

Six-man rugby made its debut at Aurora high school last week with the school team defeating a grads team 15-6 in a sparkling game. The lads lacked a lot of the necessary equipment but came through the fray pretty well. Keith Kyle, young netminding candidate for Aurora juniors and one of the school's better athletes, sustained an injured proboscis as the result of a

ACCLAIMED TO HYDRO

Fred S. Thompson, last year elected for one year on the Newmarket Hydro Commission, was returned to the commission Friday night by acclamation.

HUMAN FACTS BEHIND THE FIGURES

Merchants, businessmen and people in every sort of enterprise borrow a lot of money from the B of M. One of these was Mr. P. R. B., an expert baker, who, after service with the Forces, wanted to own a small wholesale bakery again. Lacking the ready cash, he came to the B of M, obtained a $500 loan, and is now running a profitable little business.

Thousands of business men—with big enterprises and little ones—use B of M loans to help them in their financing. The dollars they borrow oil the wheels of commerce and industry, facilitate production and create employment.

B of M Personal Loans helped no less than 157,020 people during the past year—people like Mr. A. L. T., who needed money to help him finish constructing his own home. He got three B of M Personal Loans, totalling more than $600, over a period of 18 months, and he has paid them off regularly in monthly instalments. Now his home is in fine shape and the loans are repaid. Interest cost of loans: $32.53.

Over 500 people from every walk of life come to the B of M every business day to borrow for personal needs.

"MY BANK" TO A MILLION CANADIANS

B of M Reporting

BANKING is not the mysterious business some people are inclined to think it. In its fundamentals, it is no more complex than any other type of business.

The chief difference is that, instead of dealing in goods, your bank deals in money . . . money which belongs mainly to you and to the many other Canadians who deposit their funds with the bank.

At the B of M, for instance, well over a million people have placed on deposit close to one and three-quarter billion dollars.

This money doesn't stand idle . . . it works to earn its keep.

This is why, as you will see here, some of the dollars left at the B of M are lent to merchants, businessmen and manufacturers to assist them in their operations, while others are used to finance the needs of governments. Some enable farmers to improve their farms, buy machinery and market crops. Many others go out to help citizens in their day-to-day financing — in meeting emergencies and in taking advantage of opportunities.

The sum total of all these transactions makes interesting reading, not so much on account of the figures themselves, but because of the human stories behind them.

At the close of the B of M's business year, it seems a good thing for these dollars to show what they have been doing and for the Bank to report on the transactions which it has undertaken for its customers from coast to coast.

Farmers all across the Dominion use the B of M to finance their needs in buying seed, cattle and machinery—in marketing crops—and in improving their farms generally. This means more prosperous farming communities — and bigger agricultural production to meet the urgent needs of a hungry world.

Typical of these go-ahead farmers is Mr. R. B. L., who wanted to clear and break 50 acres on his farm. The job would cost $325, but his ready cash amounted to only $125. With the aid of a B of M farm improvement loan of $200, he completed the job and has considerably increased the production and profits from his farm.

To municipalities, school districts and governments, the B of M is constantly lending money for undertakings that benefit the whole community.

Take the case of an Ontario town, which—to pay for a new sewage system—was selling debentures amounting to $305,000. The Bank of Montreal bought 44% of the issue, a total of $134,000, which is now being used by the town to complete the undertaking.

Many municipalities use the B of M's facilities to finance community improvements and to handle their financial transactions generally.

If you are a B of M depositor, then it may be your money which assisted Mr. P. R. B. to buy his bakery—which helped Mr. A. L. T. finish constructing his home—which enabled Farmer R. B. L. to make his farm more profitable—and which helped finance the new sewage system for the Ontario town. That working money of yours is part of $1,700,000,000 which well over a million Canadians have deposited at 498 B of M branches from coast to coast. Each one of the 1,531,658 B of M deposit accounts is an expression of trust in Canada's first-established bank, which has been working with Canadians in every walk of life for 129 years.

Golden Glow Mixes Up Some National Dishes

By GOLDEN GLOW

I don't need to remind any good Scotsman that Saturday is St. Andrew's Day. Yes, next Saturday, the last day of November, is to Scotland what April 23, St. George's Day, is to England, March 17, St. Patrick's Day, is to Ireland, and March 1, St. David's Day, is to Wales.

Good St. Andrew is the patron saint of the missionaries as well as the patron saint of Scotland, and we must admit, if we know history, secular or religious, that the Scotch have been marvellous missionaries, second to none.

However, it is of the national dish I was thinking—the time-honored concoction they call "haggis." It is to the Scotsman what roast beef is to the Englishman, the leek to the Welchman—and now I'm stuck, what is the national dish of the Irish? Baked potatoes and buttermilk, do I hear someone say? Another one here suggests Paddy's pig.

Someone else says "pickled snakes' ears"—now that is going too far—this isn't supposed to be funny. Besides there are no snakes in Ireland, for according to an old tradition St. Patrick drove them all out. Up in that beautiful memorial church in Penetang, erected to the memory of the two missionaries massacred by the Indians, is a wonderful stained glass window, depicting St. Patrick driving out the snakes. So we'll count the "pickled snakes' ears" out.

All the same I can't think of a national dish unless it is "Irish stew" — or maybe potatoes and point. Did you say what is point? I asked that, when I was a small child, and the answer was "Point' to where the meat should be and isn't." I'm not going to ask anyone again anything about this. If I don't know I'll just say so, and if you do not know either—well, we just can't help it. I didn't start off with such a frivilous feeling, I assure you. However the Irish stew seems to coincide with the Scotch haggis, so I'll accept that suggestion, but I won't refer to anyone again about this article.

I think I should have headed it "Haggis," for I was reading a little doggerel about that time-honored dish so I looked up the word in the dictionary to see what Daniel Webster had to say about it. It is spelled haggess, and it says "a pudding containing parts of a sheep with herbs."

A more detailed definition was "a dish consisting of the heart, lungs and liver of a sheep, calf, etc., minced with suet and oatmeal, seasoned with salt, pepper, onions, etc., and boiled." But it was the cute little stanza of poetry that I chuckled over.

Here it is, in the Scotch dialect, the recipe, haggis:

"We'll pit a sheep's head 'n pot,
Horns an' a' the gither,
We'll mak' brose o' that,
An' we'll sup wi' one anither,
Hi for Ronal' Macdonal'
An' hi for Ronal' McDhu!
Hi for Ronal' Macdonal'
We'll a' get rantin' fu'."

But on St. Andrew's Day, the lovers of Bobby Burns will be certainly celebrating with their haggis. Britain's Board of Trade received three heavy registered packages which were thought to be bombs, but turned out to be haggis.

How to make haggis is regarded by masters of the art as a secret only exceeded by "How to make an A-bomb." There will be smacking of lips among Scotch societies on that eventful eve. Maybe it is a good thing Nov. 30 comes on Saturday this year, for from the recipe it really looks as if they will need all day Sunday to digest it — or sleep it off — whatever! Hoot mon!

KETTLEBY

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Heaslip, Newmarket, spent Sunday with Mrs. Elwood Barradell.

Mr. and Mrs. John Little, Mr. James Little and Mrs. Little, Sr., attended the reception of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Little who were married on Saturday, Nov. 16, in Toronto.

The Union Young People met on Monday, Nov. 25, in the parish hall under the leadership of the devotional convenor, Harry Burns, who began the meeting with a sing-song and took as his topic "Prayer." Miss Beulah Geer and Mr. Marshall Geer sang a duet, Be Thou Near. The meeting next week will be held in the United church hall and is in the charge of the social covenors. Miss Hazel Sharpe and Mr. Calvin Doan.

Mrs. Harry Webster is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Merrill Johnson, Brampton.

The Woman's Guild of Christ church is holding its bazaar and sale of home-made baking in the parish hall Friday, Nov. 29. The bazaar will start at 6 p.m. and will be followed by a progressive euchre at 8.30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Blatchford, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cook, Mr. Donald Murray and a friend, Miss Doris Geer and Mr. Murray Cook attended the Firemen's dance at the Royal York hotel in Toronto last Thursday.

IN THE STICKS

MOUNT PLEASANT

The people will have many callers the next two weeks as nominations are over and the candidates will be the callers.

The winter of last Friday and Saturday has passed away and mild weather is here again, giving the farmers time to finish their bit of late plowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson had Sunday supper with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rose, Union Street.

The Women's Guild is quilting at Mrs. Brown's home on Wednesday in preparation for the bazaar that is being held on Dec 4 along with a pot-luck supper, with all being seated at 7 p.m.

ECONOMICAL

A Scottish farmer's son had the misfortune to fall in love with two girls at once. One was tall and strapping, the other small and slim.

The puzzled lover at last asked his father's advice.

"Well," said his father, "there's sae muckle machinery used in farmin' nooadays that a big, active wife is no' o' muckle use; so I advise ye to tak the little ane—she'll eat less, onyway!"

In Memoriam

Burling—In loving memory of Frank C. Burling who passed away November 23, 1945.
From our happy home and circle
God has taken one we loved,
He is borne away from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above
No one knows how much we miss him,
None but aching hearts can tell.
Lost on earth, but found in heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.
Ever remembered by daughter Gladys and family.

Stickland—In fond and ever loving memory of my dear mother, Emily Toole Stickland, who left us so suddenly on November 23, 1941, to be with her loving Saviour.
Five years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from her home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last
The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore
Till God called her home
To suffer no more.
So terribly missed by her daughter Helen Sheridan and family.

Turrall—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Isabel Turrall, who died November 30, 1945.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
Lovingly remembered by daughter Nora, son-in-law Harold and grandchildren.

Warren—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Edward Doole Warren, who passed away December 1, 1945.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day
Remembrance keeps him near.
Ever remembered by his wife Florence and daughter Dorothy.

Wilson—In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Geo. R. Wilson, who passed away November 29, 1945.
What would we give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see.
To hear his voice and see his smile
That meant so much to us.
Lovingly remembered by his wife, daughter-in-law, son and grandchildren.

Seek To Improve Way Of Life, Pupils Told At Exercises

"You students will be the leaders of tomorrow. Never fail to criticize the faults and mistakes of democracy and our country so that the faults may not be repeated again as has been too often the case with our present democracy," Col. Fred vanNostrand, O.B.E., guest speaker at Aurora high school commencement, said last Friday. Speaking on democracy, Col. vanNostrand said in spite of its shortcomings, the system was "the best in the world."

"In no totalitarian state would you be able to criticize your teachers, or speak against the government, or seek change in things freely." Speaking from experience, he pointed to conditions in North Africa and the French colonies under democratic France, in South Africa, India, under the British rule, in the southern United States. "Democracy during the most of my lifetime has failed," he said, but "faith and the preservation of our freedoms would achieve the ultimate goal."

Col. vanNostrand, a graduate of the school, presented the upper school diplomas to Constance Brodie, Joan Crysdale, Agnes Hill, Harold Lubbock, Charles McNaught, Jeanne Melbourne, Austin Morin, Joan Swindle, Bruce Underhill, Grace Willis, John Youngs; and the middle school diplomas to: Clifford Bell, Grace Blatchford, Walter Bunn, Shirley Campbell, June Caulfield, June Coleman, Barbara Cook, Marion Cook, Bernice Copson, Hugh Cousins, Ronald Crabtree, Isabella Dunning, Arthur Etheridge, Colleen Gould; Phillip Harrison, Robert Hollingsworth, David Johnson, Ruth Knowles, Gordon Lee, Frances McCormick, Geraldine McDonald, Doris Mustard, Phyllis Mustard, Lorene Paxton, Mary Regan, Rita Regan, Lillian Rose, Donald Stephenson, Victor Styrmo, Jacqueline Thomson, David Urquhart, Michael vanNostrand, Ruth Willson, Elizabeth Wood.

Faith in yourself, perseverance, and ambition were the three tenets recommended to the students by Principal J. H. Knowles who acted as chairman and presented the academic prizes to Grade 13, Harold Lubbock, Constance Brodie and John Youngs.

Mr. Stuart termed opportunity in Canada "the greatest of any country in the world."

Dr. G. W. Williams, chairman of the board, presented the athletic awards, and Dr. C. J. Devins presented his Canadian history prize to Beaton Goodfellow. In the absence through illness of J. G. A minute's silence was observed by the audience in memory of Garfield Doolittle.

Soloists were Lorraine Fierheller and Valerie Hunter. A girls' chorus and a display of athletic exercises by girls added to the varied program which was high-lighted by a one-act play entitled Utter Relaxation. The play, directed by Miss Lois Spooner, was cleverly presented and the cast included John Youngs, Joyce Porter, Donna Wilson, Betty Burling, Charles McNaught and Willison Crichton.

COMMENTATOR URGES INCREASED SERVICES

On Monday night a crowded high school auditorium heard Mrs. Kate Aitken, well known radio commentator and homemaker, urge women to take a more active interest in seeing that public health services were increased, and that children and families take more interest in religious and spiritual matters. "We put all our efforts behind our war effort with success. It is just as important to use our efforts to save human lives," she said. Mrs. Aitken told of her trip to Europe and the ravages of war she had seen. She warned that the German people were far from beaten yet, and reminded her audience that the German people, like the British, never knew when they were beaten.

Mrs. John Ardill, president of the Home and School Association, under whose auspices the meeting was held, presided, and Delroy Babcock introduced the guest speaker. Mrs. Ralph Grieves moved a vote of thanks.

Aurora high school dramatic club presented the play "Utter Relaxation", which was well received.

ONE TRUSTEE SHORT ON SCHOOL BOARD

With the three retiring school trustees, D. J. Webster, J. F. Willis and Howard Bunn, not being nominated and two new candidates, Charles Dodson and John Hudson, being elected by acclamation, Aurora finds itself with only two duly elected trustees and a third still to be elected for a two-year term.

Town officials are seeking the advice of the Ontario Municipal Affairs department to ascertain if it will be possible to hold another nomination previous to the election date of December 9 to fill the vacancy, to save expense and the necessity of another possible vote by the people.

"I feel our children are in great danger in the old town hall," said Charles Dodson. "We must find some other place for them." He urged support for the school by-law.

John Hudson was not present at the meeting but has since qualified.

"If more than one candidate is nominated for the school board vacancy, it is likely we will have to have another election," Town Solicitor L. C. Lee said. "I doubt if we can obtain permission from the department of Municipal Affairs to do otherwise."

Acclamations For Mayor, Reeve, And Deputy In Aurora

Aurora electors have accorded Mayor Ross Linton, Reeve Charles Sparks and Deputy-Reeve Asa Cook acclamations, but eight candidates will do battle on Dec. 9 for the six council seats. Four of last year's council, Stewart Patrick, Dr. Crawford Rose, Rod V. Smith, and A. Nixon Fisher seek to retain their seats at the council board, while ex-councillor Thomas Swindle, John Sisman, Charles Davies, and Victor Jones will contest the issue. The four new candidates are all regarded as strong candidates and a hard fought campaign should result.

On Monday night electors listened for over two hours and a half to the candidates, who expounded their views at the nomination meeting in Trinity parish hall. Most of the time was taken in a discussion of the public school by-law.

Announcing his candidature for another term of office, Mayor Ross Linton, who was accorded an acclamation, outlined the year's activities. He said that the election date had been advanced to give the reeve and deputy-reeve an even break with other county councillors, and to get away from holding nominations and elections at the holiday season. He said that he was sure the electors approved. He noted changes in the town clerkship, the appointment of a V.O.N nurse, and the addition of a new constable. He said that a new assessor would be needed in 1947.

"The worst problem we have is the housing shortage, but that is the same wherever you go in Canada or the United States," said his worship. Nineteen new homes were in various stages of construction in 1940, according to Mayor Linton, and he looked forward to increased building next year.

Congratulating the industrial committee of the board of trade and the council on their work, he expressed satisfaction at the progress made. "We have some of the best industrial sites available in Ontario, and there are quite a few firms interested," he said. The mayor pointed out the work he had done towards securing industry. "No one is more interested in securing new industries for Aurora than I am," he said. The Hart plant would be built in the spring, Collis Leather was building a large addition, and the plants already established were doing good work, he continued. "The location of the provincial police headquarters for Ontario, York and Peel here, in addition to bringing new families to town is good publicity, and is morally as good as if we had another policeman on the job."

Equalization of assessment, the George St. extension, and the completion of the streets program, the re-numbering of homes, improvement of library accommodation, parking space, planting of trees on new streets, playground equipment, were problems to be dealt with in the new year, he said. Debenture payments were largely at six percent, but according to the town solicitor they could not be re-financed, his worship said.

Charles E. Sparks was accorded an acclamation for reeveship by the Aurora electors on Monday.

Reeve C. E. Sparks, in announcing his candidature, said he had been requested by many electors to stay in office, and he had determined to seek the county commissionership for 1947.

Mr. Sparks entered municipal politics in Beverley township, Wentworth county in 1905, rising to the position of reeve. He also served as assessor and auditor in the township. Coming to Aurora in 1935, he entered council in 1938.

He has served as councillor and deputy-reeve as well as reeve. He has announced his candidature as county commissioner for 1947.

Deputy-Reeve A. A. Cook announced that he would run for another term, and outlined details of the proposed high school area. The waterworks department was in the best shape it had been in for many years, with good equipment, adequate supply, and a handsome surplus, he said. "I look for more growth in population in Aurora in the next few years than we have had in 20 years," he predicted.

The new streets program would be financed out of current revenue or the money would be borrowed from the bank, Councillor A. N. Fisher announced. He outlined the new parking regulations and said that parking space for businessmen had been secured on Yonge St. through the efforts of John Bowser and A. E. Hawkins, free of charge. As of Oct. 31 the town's financial picture was around $15,000 behind that of last year. (Mayor Linton later explained that no true picture could be given until the end of the year, but that payment of outstanding taxes and other income, as balanced against other expenditures to be made, would leave a deficit of several thousand dollars). Councillor Crawford Rose stressed that three qualifications were needed by municipal candidates, a genuinely sincere interest in the welfare of the town, willingness to give time away from private business, and willingness to accept criticism. He looked for a bright future for Aurora.

William West thanked the electors for their support in other years, but said that business commitments would make it impossible for him to run again.

Stewart Patrick said that he had learned a lot in his first years in council, and paid tribute to the leadership of the mayor. "I hope to see free skating at the arena on Sunday afternoons during the coming year," he said. "I don't see any difference between playing golf on Sunday, or motor trips, and skating." He called for more efforts to provide recreation for the youth of the town.

John W. Bowser, nominated for mayor and council, withdrew from both contests.

Dr. C. R. Boulding, mayor for seven years in the '30's, urged increased interest in public affairs. He thought it might have been better to wait for another year to change the election date in order that the necessary changes to ensure a financial statement for nomination day could be made. "We don't seem to be able to find out what our tax rate will be next year, and we should have some idea in view of the large money by-law being voted on," he said. A recreation director for Aurora might well be considered, he said.

Ex-Warden Harry Corner, nominated for reeve, said that he would not be a candidate, and congratulated the county council representatives on their work.

T. A. M. Hulse, nominated for reeve, withdrew from the nomination. "We need a definite town planning system for Aurora," he said. "It is not satisfactory to want things in town and not plan for them. We need a new school, a new community hall, increased playground facilities and supervised play for the children in the future. How are we going to pay for them? If we want them let's sit down and work out the best means of obtaining them, and see that we get the most for our money, and that we finance them without undue burden." Another park for small children, with playground facilities was urged.

Fire Chief Harry Jones, nominated for council, announced that he would decide his intentions later.

James Murray felt he could serve the town well if he decided to be a candidate.

Victor Jones said he had not decided on running but would give the matter every consideration.

Councillor R. V. Smith, John Sisman, Clifford Corbett, Charles Davies, Herbert Code and ex-Councillor Thomas Swindle, who were not present, were all nominated for council seats.

Public Meeting Dec. 3 To Discuss New School

As a result of the interest shown at the nomination meeting and the general feeling of confusion on the issue of the school by-law, those present at the nomination meeting approved the holding of a public meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 3, in Aurora high school to enlighten the electors on the facts.

Dr. C. J. Devins, chairman of the school board, and trustee Herbert Stocks explained the by-law to those present. Dr. Devins described the figure of $285,000 as a "safety valve". The board has no intention of spending more than that amount for a school and in fact would only spend what was absolutely necessary, he said. "In my opinion I don't think we will need to spend more than $260,000," he said. "It will not be spent all at once, but only as we need it. The public will have every safety on the spending." He was against anything other than a contract price, he said. The talk of cost plus had never been approved by the board. "We are tax payers and we won't spend any more money than is necessary." He said that permission had to be obtained from the Department of Education, the town council and the municipal board, and he felt the electors could feel assured that no unnecessary money would be spent. The money, he said, wouldn't be spent until times were right. "We want the green light so that we can go ahead and make the arrangements. I don't know what will happen if the people turn down the project. The board would have to start all over again on their plans on what was generally recognized as a necessity for the town," he said.

The Ontario government is presently paying 50 percent of operating and capital costs, and they would meet their share of the debentures, although no definite statement could be obtained from the department as to the actual amounts to be paid, he said. "I don't think we should regard it as much less. The trend in education is for the government to assume more of the grants. I don't think the department or government will change the policy much in the future."

He estimated the cost to the rate-payers as between five or six mills on the tax rate. "On an assessment of $2000, that would amount to around $12 a year for 20 years. I know of no better investment for the future of the town." He urged those who had no children of public school age to consider the general welfare and support the by-law.

"Where can we put them, other than in a new school?" was his answer to those who criticized the present conditions at the old town hall. He was personally in favor of building the school en bloc rather than piecemeal, as a matter of cheaper financing, and for the appearance to the town. "It may be necessary however to build only a part in the near future, if supplies are not more readily available," he warned. He was certain a contract price could be obtained, he said.

Trustee Stocks felt the government would continue its payments and said that, by general use of the school, increased grants could be obtained. The auditorium and gymnasium would be built upon the foundation of the present school, he said. "A saving of over $15,000 would be affected by that arrangement."

Community Mourns Loss Of Promising Young Athlete

Hundreds of Aurorans and district residents mourned the death of Garfield Clarence "Gar" Doolittle, 20-year-old Aurora resident, who died suddenly on Thursday at York County hospital following an operation. The death of the popular young Aurora athlete came as a shock to the community, and the funeral service on Sunday from Aurora United church was one of the largest in the history of Aurora.

"Gar" Doolittle was born and raised in Aurora, and was noted for his athletic prowess. He was senior track and field champion, captain of the senior basketball champions, and a cadet officer at the high school, as well as taking part in hockey and other school activities. He enlisted with the Canadian Armored Corps on attaining the age of 18 and trained at Camp Borden, and Aldershot, N.S., being discharged last summer.

A promising baseball star, he played with Aurora Lions junior baseball club, later joining the Newmarket junior baseball club in the O.B.A. playdowns. He attended the 1946 baseball school conducted by Toronto Maple Leafs and from among over 300 Ontario youths he was selected to play for one of the all-star teams. Fast on his feet, a good competitor under fire, clean in his play, and popular with his teammates, he bade fair to go far in the world of sport. He was a member of Aurora United church.

Newmarket baseball club, Aurora Branch 385 Canadian Legion, and teammates and friends from Aurora high school, and Aurora baseball clubs attended the funeral service in large groups. The service was conducted by Rev. Roy F. Hicks, and at the graveside, following the committal service, Rev. R. K. Perdue and members of the Legion took part in the veteran's service. Last Post and Reveille were sounded by buglers Harold Foote and Stewart DeLaHaye. Pallbearers were: David Summers, Bill McGhee, Ernie Ellis, Jr., Phil. Davidson, Bill Mundell, and Eric Smith.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doolittle, three brothers, Clayton, Loring and Clare, and two sisters, Mrs. Thompson (Bernice), and Jolyne.

Zephyr United Church Has Memorial Service Nov. 24

Sunday evening, Nov. 24, a crowded church saw a colorful ceremony in the attendance at church service of the Legion from Mount Albert and soldiers from the district surrounding Zephyr. Unable to hold this service on November 10, the church held it Sunday night.

The Legion, under the direction of zone commander Bert Schultz, marched through the village and into the church where the flags were marshalled at the commencement of the service. The standard and the Union Jack were laid on the altar of the church and other flags ranked on their stands. Memorial hymns were sung. At the middle of the service the congregation stood while the Last Post was sounded by the bugler and the names of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice in the war of 1914-18 and the more recent war were read. Then Reveille was sounded and the National Anthem was sung.

Rev. A. F. Bamford, the pastor of the church, spoke of the tender relationship between St. Paul and young Timothy, showing that just as a soldier suffers hardships in his calling so should a Christian be steadfast in his faith for Christ. Mr. Bamford told how indebted we are to our forces for our liberties today. Where would we be and what liberty would we have today if the forces of Germany had been successful, he asked? He urged the congregation to face life as Christians if we would keep the world free of war and that we should see to it that the right type of men are sent to our various Houses of Parliament to be our statesmen and frame our laws.

The service was brought to a close by singing Onward Christian Soldiers.

ZEPHYR COUPLE HAS 60TH ANNIVERSARY

At their home in Zephyr on Saturday evening, Nov. 30, 1946, Richard Curl an dhis wife, Mary Ann Cleland Curl, will celebrate the 60th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Curl is 88 years of age. His birthday was celebrated last September. Mrs. Curl is 82, her birthday being November 23rd.

Mr. Curl was born on the 6th line of Scott, and Mrs. Curl was born on the 5th line of Scott, and neither has gone far from their birth place to live. They come of English-Irish ancestry, Mr. Curl's parents coming from Hampshire, England, and Mrs. Curl's from County Down, Ireland.

For a number of years Mr. Curl was a blacksmith, at one time on the 5th line of Scott, and later coming to Zephyr village to carry on his trade. At that time there were many more horses that required shoeing than at the present and the blacksmith was a very busy man indeed. Mr. Curl was brought up in the faith of the Church of England, while his wife came from a strict Presbyterian home. After their marriage, seeing that the Church of England was so far away, they both attended the Presbyterian Church and have followed that church ever since.

Today they have a family of five children, with 17 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren. Now they are living quietly in their little home in the village of Zephyr. One of the interesting things about their home is a natural history museum. They have quite a collection of stuffed birds—hawks, owls and water fowl preponderating. Most interesting of all is something they call a "Mermaid". It is about 12 to 15 inches long and appears to have the head of a little child.

"Yes," said the old man. "I be 95 tomorrow and I haven't an enemy in the world."

"A beautiful thought," answered the new vicar.

"Yes, sir," went on the old man, "I've outlived them all."

and Trent farms before taking over the Newmarket Dairy in 1913. He ran the dairy until 1919, and then went west to Brandon. There he opened up a grocery before taking over the Wheat City Dairy. Mr. Williamson said that there is a shortage of milk in the west as elsewhere, and that the shortage is being increased by the dispersal of herds to the United States.

"The trouble is that the farmers out there have too much money. They have just stopped milking their cows. They are selling all their other stuff at a good price, and they just can't be bothered milking the cows. The United States buyers offer a good price for the cows so they sell. A few weeks ago the owner of one of the good milk herds sold 35 of his 37 cows to U.S. buyers and only two to Canadian buyers. He averaged $250 on those that he sold to the States.

"In spite of the fact that farmers are paid only $2.95 for 3.5 milk there does not seem to be any dissatisfaction among those who do sell the milk, and in general their working conditions are at least as bad as those of the farmer here. It is already 15-18 degrees below zero out there," he said. Mr. Williamson and his three sons are partners in the dairy now.

Gordon started raising prize horses as a hobby in 1940, although his wife, whom he describes as "the lady rider of the west", had been raising them "since she was a kid". She produced an engraved silver bracelet as tangible proof of her riding ability.

"I realized one of my ambitions when two of our horses were chosen by the Manitoba government to represent Manitoba at the Royal Winter Fair," she said. The Williamson's have entered horses in 11 different fairs in 1946. They have won 211 ribbons and 14 trophies. At the fair in Toronto their horse won two ribbons for in the six-foot high jump, and one for standing 12th out of 200 in the $1,500 open jumping class. He was competing with horses from all over the world.

"Most of the good horses came from the States, although Cardy, the hotel owner from Val David, and G. R. Cottrelle, ex-Oil Comptroller, had several good ones too," Mrs. Williamson said.

ACCLAIMED TO COUNCIL POSTS

Joseph Vale, left, was acclaimed as mayor of Newmarket Friday night. R. C. Morrison was also nominated but withdrew his nomination in favor of a nomination to council. Reeve Arthur D. Evans, centre, and Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette were each acclaimed to the council positions they held last year.

DOWN THE CENTRE

bit of misguided enthusiasm in interference but the Kyle profile remains handsome as ever, much to the delight of the femmes.

The game went over well with the players, teachers and fans, and there's not much doubt about it, but the Aurora school could turn out a creditable grid team. Right now the powers that be are on the scrounge for equipment, and if enough can be secured by next fall, Aurora may have a rugby team. The day is not far off whether it be in '47 or '48.

John Perry, former all-round athlete at the school, now studying pharmacy and a holder of the D.S.O. and D.F.C. with the R.C.A.F., has been elected president of the Pathfinders club, a new organization formed to help all air and ground crew, economically and socially. Young Perry, who resides at Woodbridge held the rank of squadron leader.

Ron Kyle, elongated ex-R.C.A.F. officer, who a few years ago was one of the ace basketeers of the North York secondary school circuit, narrowly missed winning a place on the Toronto 'Varsity senior basketball team. Kyle, who stands well over six feet, will play for either Tip Tops or one of the Toronto senior O.B.A. teams this winter, at least he's being sought by the scouts from the Toronto cage teams.

A turkey shoot comes up on Saturday at Al. Rice's farm on the 2nd concession of Markham. The event is sponsored by the Richmond Hill Lions club, and the opening salvo will be fired at two chimes. Get me my firearms, Jeeves old boy!

Frank Sullivan, a product of Hill minor hockey, will again be in action for De La Salle Oaklands, holders of the junior "B" series title in the O.H.A. His older brother, John, is performing for Toronto Marlboros. Both boys are the sons of Frank "Pinch-hitter" Sullivan of Varsity and Varsity Grads fame.

Norman Stunden, portside pitcher of the Hill and Aurora baseball squads, with three years' junior hockey behind him at 17, according to the latest reports, will play for Chapmans in the junior "B" series. Normie tried out with Marlboros earlier in the year but like so many North York youngsters who have had a whirl with the Dukes, didn't get the trial his ability deserved. The Jewelers have been trying, so far without success to lure Bill Mundell of Aurora into their fold. Ed, Young, who played on defence for Brampton camp in the local military intermediate group in 1944, is now with Houston in the United States pro league.

When you hear that Tulsa Oilers are on top of the U.S. league, it is only fair to point out they are on top of the southern division composed of Tulsa, Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston. By actual wins and points, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Kansas City of the north group have better records in the eight-club circuit. That doesn't take anything, however, from the sterling play of our two boys, Hugh Mair and Billy Wilson.

Overtime hockey in regular league games has not been played for some years. It was abandoned as a wartime measure by the pros in 1942, and still remains in force. Since amateur hockey follows the pro lead in most cases, we may never see ten minutes' overtime in force again. Time was, of course, when all games were played to a finish. Since amateur figures are not available, it is interesting to note that in the N.H.L. not 25 percent of the overtime games in any one season have resulted in the 60-minute verdict being changed. In most years, it is not over 16 percent.

The fans may holler for overtime, but it is well to remember that in boxing, soccer, rugby, to name a few, the game terminates at the end of play with no provision for breaking a tie or draw. Basketball can draw to a quick finish, as a result of the high scoring and if need be, the first basket rule. Baseball will go on until called by the elements, but there is never any split in points since baseball is played in the big leagues at least on the percentage basis. Hockey fans, however, are in a class by themselves, and generally are dissatisfied with a tie score. If there is to be any change in the rules, the voice of the fans and players will have to cause it.

Ray White, Aurora softballer, just called to say a new player for the 1961 Aurora girls' softball team in the person of Nancy Lee White had arrived in town. The cigars are on Ray.

Herbie Cain seems to be enjoying the rugged play prevalent in the American Hockey league, and we note the usually quiet Cain, generally a potential Lady Byng trophy winner in the N.H.L., has been drawing down his share of penalties with Hershey Bears. The Newmarket boy had a major against Springfield over the weekend as he tangled at fisticuffs with Woodward of the Indians. Herb is beginning to hit the score sheet with regularity too.

Bill Babcock, former all-round athlete at Aurora high school, now in attendance at Toronto University, was a member of the university intermediate soccer team which won the Intercollegiate championship this year. Bill played a strong game on the halfline and in addition, played interfaculty soccer for Victoria University. In a few weeks he will be engaged in interfaculty basketball.

Joe Kuhla, of Bradford high school and Bradford Lions hockey club, was another ex-district athlete to perform at soccer for Toronto Varsity although he didn't play regularly. It is some years since district grads were taking part in university sports but soccer stalwarts from Aurora who made the grade in other days included: Norman Johnson, Lorne Campbell, Dr. Herb Spaulding, the late Dr. Gene Underhill, Ev. Learoyd and Dr. Fred Underhill. They were all members of the regular Varsity squad in the days when soccer was a fairly big sport at university.

Billy Taylor, pride of the Newmarket camp team of 1945, has apparently found himself again following his trade to Detroit. "Billy the Kid," as you doubtless know, is the current leader of the N.H.L. scoring race, as a member of the Detroit Red Wings, who after a dubious start, are beginning to roll again. Taylor had a total of 22 points, made up of seven goals and 15 assists, on Monday. The amazing part of it is the number of assists recorded by Billy, for in other seasons he has not been particularly noted for puck passing. So far, Detroit has bested Toronto in the trade which saw Taylor go to the motor city and Harry Watson come to Toronto. The latter, however, has done pretty well, though plagued by injuries, and in any case is the younger, and likely to be starring when Taylor has withdrawn from competition. But for immediate paydirt, Adams has the nod over Smythe.

Congrats to Charlie Evans, ex-Bradford and Varsity athlete, who has again been accorded an acclamation as reeve of Bradford. Glad to see Joe Spillette, another fine sportsman, get the unanimous approval from the folks in Newmarket for another year. With elections still in doubt in many centres, we can't give our annual round-up of sportsman municipal legislators until next week. To those who have an election on their hands, we wish them the best of luck. The sports fans will doubtless do their part with the ballots.

The sympathy of the sportsmen of the district goes to the family of the late Gar. Doolittle, whose death last week came as a shock to all. "Gar" was one of the finest youngsters it has been our pleasure to know intimately over the years. He played the game hard, but clean, and his undoubted talent never went to his head or caused him to do an unsportsmanlike act.

He had the characteristics which endeared him to both his teammates and the spectators, and for a youngster he possessed a fine sense of judgment, loyalty, and respect for the views of older persons. It is difficult to accept his passing, but in the hearts and minds of his wide circle of friends and acquaintances, his memory will be evergreen. Words are poor things, that soon fade away in times of trouble and grief but we can always remember Gar. Doolittle was every inch "a sportsman" in the truest meaning of the term.

East Gwillimbury

At the request of a large number of the electors of East Gwillimbury, I again offer myself as candidate for a seat on the township council. Although unsuccessful in my last election campaign, I polled 96 percent of the vote in my own subdivision. This, I believe, speaks for my record as a village trustee in Holland Landing.

I have always taken an active part in municipal affairs. Single-handed, I was responsible for having the county authorities assume responsibility for the upkeep of the old tow road in Holland Landing.

If elected, I will continue to fight for the best interests of the township at large. My program is one of progressive action and economy.

As one of the first Canadian winners of the Military Medal in the war of 1914-18, I solicit your support in the forthcoming campaign.

In spite of the cloudy weather on Saturday, the sun shone through sufficiently to provide a glimpse of the eclipse. Some of our readers may remember some years ago an eclipse of the sun on a very cloudy day and so several walked up to the top of the hill thinking they might see it but the joke was on them, it was still cloudy up there.

"LIFE'S BIGGER MOMENTS"

When a girl looks facts squarely in the eye—and decides to sit no longer idly waiting for Prince Charming and his rescuing charger—there's a real future for her in Canadian business. Matter of fact, many an ambitious young woman executive has shown her trim heels to mere males as she passes them on the way up.
If you've reached such a decision, it's a good time to call in the North American Life representative. He has helped scores of successful career girls to make practical blueprints for bright futures. He will show you a low-cost, progressive plan of insurance-savings that takes the "Ifs" out of independence. And should your "solo" plans be interrupted by a sudden attack of marriage—your North American Life investment will come in very, very handy.

LIONS

"If you were to cut out exhorbitant profits and paid agitators, you would do away with a lot of the disputes. If the acts of parliament were enforced, there would be very little cause for strike. There shouldn't be any need for picket lines. Either a strike is legal or it isn't.

"Strikes are no longer a matter of local interest. They vitally affect the whole country, and with it, the chances for holding on to the export trade. The only reason workmen have to strike is when the company is unfair to them. If that is the case, the government should step in."

Service clubs are becoming too big to merely be concerned with immediate community interests, particularly so when the condition of the whole country so effects the community, Dr. Rynard contended. "We should take a more active interest in provincial, federal and international affairs. Do we send our ideas elsewhere?" he asked. "Do we lend our support, our ideas, to the government?"

Dr. Rynard said that members of service clubs were looked upon as examples to be followed by young people in their community. "What sort of an example are you setting, what kind of a builder are you?" he asked.

Referring to the work of the service clubs, Dr. Rynard said they ranked next to the church "but that service clubs had not yet reached the level they could attain." In Canada, he said, there was a total of 231 Lions clubs with a membership of 11,-655. There are 136 clubs in Ontario with a membership of 7,555.

CITIZENS URGE ACTION IN PROVISION OF WATER

A large crowd of citizens attended the nomination meeting in the town hall Friday night. The three present trustees, W. S. Robertson, Roy Carr, and Harry Longhurst, and George Allison were nominated. Mr. Allison did not qualify and the 1946 trustees were acclaimed for 1947.

Several important topics were brought up and thoroughly discussed. The garbage collection, which has been in force for five months, was discussed with the citizens wishing it to be carried on.

Following a discussion on whether or not snow shovelling should be done individually or done by the village and paid for by the taxes, it was decided that each should do his own shovelling.

The trustees were asked to get an engineer to survey the possibilities of providing water and fire protection for the village. Water is badly needed on the hill and water for fire protection is also needed. The trustees were asked to get the cost of providing a system and some guidance in how to go about it.

From the financial statement of Secretary Robertson, the village appeared to be in a thriving condition. The trustees handed back to the village the sum of $900 from the town hall. When the building was being erected, the citizens had been taxed for $750. Through good management and hard work, the trustees were able to pay the sum back with interest. Mr. Robertson is to be commended for the work on the hall as he has seen it through from beginning to end and now it is all paid for and is a hall we can be proud of.

Mrs. Jos. Cooper has received a letter of thanks from a man in Czechoslovakia who had been given a coat she had sent to the National Clothing drive and in the pocket of which she had put a note. She is pleased to know it was so gratefully received.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Jarvis, Stouffville, were Thursday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carr.

Miss Belle Gibney, Holt, visited Mrs. Roy Carr on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carr visited Mrs. Vida Pegg at Keswick on Sunday.

PLEASANTVILLE

Mrs. Needler, Newmarket, and Mrs. J. Brown, St. Mary's, were Wednesday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Colville.

Miss L. Starr, Newmarket, was a Wednesday dinner guest of Mrs. G. McClure.

The Bogarttown Institute met recently at the home of Mrs. G. McClure with an attendance of nearly 30. Mrs. L. Harper had a splendid paper on Old Times. Mrs. M. Sheridan gave current events. Mrs. G. McClure conducted a historical fact contest and Miss L. Starr gave an account of the recent convention and music was by Mrs. A. Colville. A highlight of the afternoon was the Historical Lunch. Mrs. Earl Toole was master of ceremonies and convenor of the historical research committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Taylor and two children of Cedar Brae spent part of Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Toole.

Several Institute members were present at the salad demonstration on Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. Walker. Mrs. F. Williams and Mrs. Walker, the leaders of the project, gave a wonderful demonstration on salad making.

Mr. M. McNicol received a shock on Thursday. After doing a little shopping in Newmarket, he went to the car to find it had been stolen. Police located it in Toronto the next day.

ELMHURST BEACH

The Elmhurst Beach Women's Institute will meet at Mrs. Arthur Dawson's home on Dec. 4. Roll-call will be "Ideas for using old Christmas cards." There will be an exchange of Touch and Take gifts (not to exceed 25 cents). The report of the convention will be given by the delegate, Mrs. Lowndes, and the topic, Social Welfare, by Mrs. Smither. Refreshment committee, Mrs. Lockerbie, Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Hirst.

Letters to the editor are always welcome. Letters to the editor are the voices of the citizens speaking through the community newspaper.

FORMER ST. JOHN'S PRINCIPAL PASSES

The death occurred suddenly at her home on Tuesday, Nov. 19, of Miss Margaret Emily Kennedy.

Born in Markham township a daughter of Mary Hagen and Michael Kennedy, she had been in poor health for the past two years. Miss Kennedy attended St. John's Roman Catholic church.

Miss Kennedy taught school in Newmarket for 27 years and was for several years only teacher at St. John's school, teaching all grades with outstanding success, with an enrolment at times of over 70. Later an assistant teacher was employed and Miss Kennedy served as principal of the school until her retirement a few years ago.

Her genuine interest in all phases of her pupils' welfare will long be remembered, as the numerous floral and spiritual bouquets showed.

A brother, John, predeceased her in December, 1941.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Thos. Wallace (Netta), Birmingham, Mich., a sister-in-law, Mrs. John Kennedy, Ottawa, three nephews, John Frank and George, and two nieces, Helen and Mary.

Rev. T. J. McCabe said requiem mass on Friday, Nov. 22, at St. John's church. Interment was made in St. John's cemetery.

The pallbearers, all former pupils, were Joseph Vale, Joseph Quinn, Ed Gould, Arthur West, Arthur Peppiatt, Jr., and Leo Forhan.

Among those attending from a distance were Mrs. John Kennedy, son Jack and daughter Helen, Ottawa, Miss Anne McCaffrey, Miss Anne McMahon, Mrs. Kenneth Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Frank Thoms and Mr. Clare Doyle, Toronto.
